

Contrary to what most people might think – time is not healing all wounds

You gotta know tonight she's out on the prowl
So lock your doors and don't think about leaving home, no
You wouldn't stand a prayer, she brought down even the toughest men and then Enjoyed to see them begging for mercy

*She says: no, oh no, this time I'm gonna break the things that I want to break
She says: yo, yoho, and nothing will be quite the same when I am through with you
You won't be able to laugh again in a long time
This time vengeance is mine*

She used to be the cutest girl far and wide
No bad thoughts, she could not hurt a fly, no
But something happened that caused a radical change
She never talks about it
But when these thoughts occur she clenches her fists

*And says: no, oh no, this time I'm gonna break the things that I want to break
She says: yo, yoho, and nothing will be quite the same when I am through with you
You won't be able to laugh again in a long time
This time vengeance is mine*

Her friends all hoped that she'd change back (they think that time is healing all wounds)
But then they learned that she was lost (and time's not healing all wounds)
Sad, it's so sad, it's so sad, it's so sad...
All of a sudden her kind-heartedness dropped dead

You gotta know tonight she's out on the prowl
Wear your asbestos suit or she'll set you on fire
You beg: be careful with my heart
Please don't break it apart
But she just smiles emotionless and says...

*She says: no, oh no, this time I'm gonna break the things that I want to break
She says: yo, yoho, and nothing will be quite the same when I am through with you
You won't be able to laugh again in a long time
This time vengeance is mine*