

What the hell have mussels to do with capitalism?

Stood at the top of the k2
Visited san diego zoo
Saw the wideness of the land
Naked bodys in the sand
Saw the atomium in Brussels
Sleeping in a bed of mussels
Crossed the bridge on river kwai
Looked the sphinx right in the eye

I've seen a lot, I haven't seen it all
Aroused by miracles mid-sized, big and small
I've seen a lot, I haven't seen it all
Maybe someday i'll see capitalism fall

I heard that real men never cry
Heard some politicians lie (in fact: many)
Heard il pagliacci's rage
T.O.D. back live on stage
My ears were ringing when they said:
Donald Davidson is dead
Take what's yours, i'll keep what's mine
How is that the bottom line?

I've heard a lot, I haven't heard it all
Bright and nonsensical screaming at a wall
I've heard a lot, I haven't heard it all
I really hate to hear the barman say "last call"

Danced with the demons all night long
Started to sing, they sang along
Partied with people good and bad
Went to church, emptied my head
Jerked off at several public places
Learned some names, forgot some faces
Drugs, books, music, love and more
Life's a bitch, but not a bore

I've done a lot, I haven't done it all
For instance for this line I didn't find a rhyme
I've done a lot, I haven't done it all
For instance for this line I didn't find a rhyme
